SAGACIOUS AGRICULTURIST .-- Not many miles from Boston a certain farmer owned a contrary horse. While driving home with a load of hay, some time since, the horse concluded not to move any further; whereupon the farmer pulled out a small quantity of the hay, placed it under the horse and set fire to it. The fire had the desired effect, for it obliged the horse to move. He started forward just enough to clear the flames, and the entire load, with the wagon, was destroyed, the farmer having as much as he could do to clear the horse from the wagon in season to save his life.—Boston
